Dispatches Detailing Important Happenings.

CELINA IS OUT OF DANGER.

Should the St. Mary's Reservoir Break the Town Will Not Be Flooded, as It Stands Twenty Feet Higher Than the Reservoir Bank—Ohio Receives Her Direct Tax—Historical Society Trustees Appointed—Other Buckeye Dispatches.

CELINA, O., April 6.—A number of sensational dispatches have been sent to the daily papers lately from Lima and Wapakoneta concerning the safety of the Mercer county reservoir and the town of Celina. They have probably been written by some one who knew but little about the situation. The reservoir is higher than it has been for many years, but there is no danger of the west bank breaking, although it has been badly damaged by the high water.

The state has a large crew of men repairing the damage and if there is no more rain all will again be secure. The loss to private individuals, with the exception of a few oil companies, is very small. It will, however, cost the state at least $ 0,000 to repair the damage to the bank.

The town of Celina is not on the bank, as reported, but is at least twenty feet higher than the reservoir bank, so that if ever the bank should burst the town would be perfectly safe.

CONVICT AT LARGE.

A Ten Year Prisoner Escapes from the Ohio Penitentiary.

COLUMBUS, O., April 6.—Charles Elwood, a ten year prisoner from Lucas county, made a bold escape from the penitentiary just before dinner yesterday. Elwood was excused from attending church because of sickness, but instead of going to the hospital he went to his cell on the top of the range. He then escaped through a ventilator on the roof and then descended into Warden Dyer's residence in the prison.

Elwood selected a suit of citizen's clothes from the wardrobe of Mr. Thompsons, the warden's son-in-law. After donning them he went out the front door, but avoided the guard at the front gate by going out the gate near the female department. Several persons saw Elwood in the prison yard, but the prison authorities did not discover his absence until the prisoners were marched to dinner.

Ohio's Direct Tax Received.

COLUMBUS, O., April 6.—W. O. Tolford, Ohio state agent for the collection of war claims, arrived here Saturday evening with Ohio's share of the direct tax. He brought three drafts on the United States treasury for amounts aggregating $1,332,215.60. The drafts were given to Governor Campbell. The governor immediately took them to the auditor of state, secured a pay in order of the treasurer, and then turned the drafts into the treasury. The money was credited to a new fund, to be known as the direct tax trust fund. Capt. Tolford's commission amounts to $36,645.

Tug Boat Sinks in Lake Erie.

CLEVELAND, April 6.—The tug Tempest, owned by the Cleveland Saw-mill and Lumber company, went to the bottom of Lake Erie late Saturday afternoon near the entrance of the harbor. Howard Loomis, engineer; William Hughes, fireman, and Harry Hershey, raftsman, were in the engine room, and went down with the tug. Capt. John Murray and a raftsman escaped. The tug was towing a raft of logs from the lake shore, west of the city, and as she turned to enter the river was caught in a trough of the sea and overturned. She went to the bottom like a stone.

Would-Be Murderer Locked Up.

MANSFIELD, O., April 6.—F. N. Dorman, known as "Kid" Dorman, a gambler and general crook, was sent to jail Saturday in default of $1,000 for assault with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons. He entered the rooms of John Dorian and wife, on North Main street, Friday night, and fired two shots at Pearl Arlington, a woman of the town, and also attempted to shoot at Mrs. Dorian. The Arlington woman refused to prosecute, but Mrs. Dorian did.

Death from Fright.

TIFFIN, O., April 6.—A peculiar incident connected with the blowing up with dynamite on Saturday night, March 28, of the dwelling of John Ankeny, near Sycamore, was the death Saturday of Mrs. John Coon, the wife of a farmer residing three fourths of a mile from the scene of the explosion. She died absolutely from fright, having been prostrated since the moment of the explosion. Elias Martin, the accused of the deed, is in jail at Upper Sandusky.

Historical Society Trustees.

COLUMBUS, O., April 6.—Under the resolution which was adopted by the legislature last week, Governor Campbell has appointed the following trustees of the Ohio Historical society: For three years, A. C. Robeson, of Darke, and Charles P. Griffin, of Lucas; for two years, E. A. Lockwood, of Clermont, and Israel Williams, of Butler; for one year, W. J. Gilmore, of Franklin, and H. C. Read, of Summit.

Took No Chances the Second Time.

FOSTORIA, O., April 6.—Mrs. William Murphy, wife of a section boss on the Lake Erie and Western railroad, committed suicide at Burgoon Saturday. She jumped into a cistern a week ago, but was rescued. This time she locked herself in a room, took a dose of carbolic acid and cut her throat. She was 28 years old, and leaves a family. No cause is assigned for the act.

New Incorporations.

COLUMBUS, O., April 6. — Articles for incorporation were filed in the office of the secretary of state yesterday: The Budd Hide company, Cleveland, capital stock, $100,000; the Howard Methodist Episcopal church of Findlay, O.; the Master Builders' Exchange of Springfield, O.; the Christian church, of Greenville, O.

A Farmer Suicides.

WOOSTER, O., April 6.—The family of George Bernhart, a wealthy Clinton township farmer, found him hanging in the wood shed. No cause assigned. His affairs are said to be in good shape.

Sudden Death from Grip.

LIMA, O., April 6.—Saturday morning Mrs. Francis O'Neil died suddenly from the effects of an attack of la grippe.

COMMONWEALTH OF AUSTRALIA.

The Significant Creation of the Federation Convention.

LONDON April 6.—The creation of the commonwealth of Australia by the federation convention, now in session in Sydney, is barely noticed in the morning newspapers, which fail to recognize its importance. Of these, The Chronicle alone comments on the act. It speaks of the adoption of the title as not unexpected, and does not regard it as pointing to a separation from the mother country.

The Star grasps the significance of the convention's action. "The Australians," it says, "have copied the constitution of the United States, avoiding its defects and evils. Australia will, accordingly, be a democratic federation, practically a republic, with a monarchial veneer. A delicate task devolves on the queen of appointing a governor general. Australia will not accept a titled nonentity. A mistake in the choice would endanger the connection between the mother country and the new federation, where everything is ripe for a declaration of independence and the election of a president."

The St. James Gazette observes that the adoption of the name Commonwealth rather than Dominion is significant. "Australia," it says, is more a republic than a colony; federation makes her virtually independent. England cannot refuse to ratify her act."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: The convention has conceded enormous powers to the Federal government. The constitution it has formed is something between the American and Canadian instruments. The crown is still a reality, but its power in the new commonwealth is a ligament.

The convention has adopted a clause of the constitution providing that the chief executive of the Federation shall be known as the governor general, and that he shall be appointed by the queen. A proposition that the governor general should be elected by a popular vote was rejected by a vote of 35 to 3.

NOT PANNING OUT.

The Scheme to Enlist Indians in the Regular Army.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The news received at the war department of the result of the efforts being made by western army officers to carry out the provisions of the army appropriation bill authorizing the enlistment in the regular army of 2,000 Indian recruits is very discouraging. The officials report that the Indians will not enlist in the infantry under any circumstances as they abhor walking. They will not enlist in the cavalry except as scouts, because they do not care to bind themselves to five years' service nor to be subject to removal to distant parts of the country. Then too, they want their women with them, and the great majority of the bucks are unfit for military service, physically. It is doubtful if a single Indian company can be recruited in the west.

But the outlook in the south is more hopeful. At Mount Vernon barracks, Alabama, where the Apache Indians who led the Geronimo campaign are placed, it is said that all of the Indians, some thirty-five or forty, are about to enlist. These Indians are said to be progressing rapidly in the path of civilization, and the almost incredible fact is reported that the renowned warrior, Geronimo, who was for years the terror of the west, is now a prominent teacher in the local Sunday school, and attends services regularly every Sunday to keep order.

GARFIELD'S BROTHER.

He is Lying at the Point of Death at His Home, in Michigan.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 6.—Thomas Garfield, only brother of the late president, is dying of acute rheumatism and old age, on his farm, in Jamestown, Ottawa county. He is 68 years old.

It was he who toiled that his illustrious brother, who was several years younger, might go through college and be fitted for a higher career than a farmer. For himself he was contented on the farm, and spent his life in hard work and careless toil, earning a modest competency. He never sought or held public office. The president, in return for the brother's kindness to him, paid the mortgage on the farm, and a friendly correspondence was maintained between them during life. He leaves two grown children, one a son, James A. Garfield, Jr., and the other is a daughter.

A Bloody Tragedy.

PEMBINA, N. Dak., April 6.—One of the bloodiest tragedies in the history of Pembina county occurred near Towermont yesterday at the residence of Robert Irwin, where Fred Bartlett shot and mortally wounded Thomas McConnell and H. G. Hill, and shot Irwin in the abdomen, and an hour later blew his own brains out. McConnell was shot five times and Hill twice. It appears that Fred and Thomas Bartlett, knowing that McConnell was at Irwin's house, went there for the purpose of killing him, claiming that he seduced their sister under promise of marriage and then married another woman

ITALY WON'T FIGHT.

The Italian Premier Merely Wanted to Formally Protest.

WAITING FOR FURTHER DETAILS

Rudini Thinks That the Trouble Will Be Settled Satisfactorily to Both Parties, Although It is Said That He is Being Urged to Quarrel by a Mafia Representative in the Italian Government—Italians Riddle Our Flag With Bullets at a New York Stone Quarry—Volunteer Service Being Offered the War Department.

NEW YORK, April 6.—A special from Rome to The Mail and Express quotes the Marquis di Rudini as saying that he had no intention of pushing any demands, and was content with having taken one positive step as a protest against what he was led to believe, at the time, was a neglect on the part of the United States government, to protect the lives of Italian citizens in America, under the provisions of the treaty. He expressed himself as aware that to do anything more at this juncture would be a grave error on his part, as he has perfect confidence in the sincerity and justice of the United States government.

Finally he said: "I shall now simply wait for further details of the New Orleans affair, of the character of the slain men, of the action of the Louisiana authorities and of the intentions of the United States Government; but whatever these may be, I am quite sure that a settlement thoroughly satisfactory to both parties will be found, and that the friendship which binds the two nations will remain unalterable and secure".

THE SECRET OUT.

Rudini Said to Be Urged to the Quarrel by a Mafia Representative.

NEW YORK, April 6.—A dispatch from Rome says that Signor Nicotera, the present minister of the interior, forced the Marquis Di Rudini into his aggressive attitude towards America because he is cheek by jowl with the executive men of such secret societies as the Camorra and the Mafia.

He owes his political position by their powerful efforts. This is the man who is now pressing the King of Italy and the Marquis Di Rudini to provoke a quarrel with the United States, because its government does not peremptorily punish the citizens of New Orleans who lynched the Mafians, whom the Italians would have destroyed in a similar way had they found the machinery of the law not strong enough to cope with them.

RIDDLE OUR FLAG WITH BULLETS.

Such the Ungrateful Action of Italians to Whom America Has Given Refuge.

KINGSTON, N. Y., April 6.—A dispatch from Le Fevre Falls states that considerable excitement exists there over the outrages of a number of Italians employed in the quarries there. The Italians in question recently held a meeting and adopted resolutions roundly denouncing the conduct of the citizens of New Orleans and American institutions in general.

To emphasize their displeasure with the people and government of the United States the Italians hoisted an American flag on a high pole and then riddled it with bullets. The quarry owners hearing this instantly discharged the men. Most of the Italians have since left the place.

Volunteers Ready for Duty.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Volunteers for service in the army in case of war are still coming into the war department. Acting Secretary Grant Saturday received telegrams from Alabama, Missouri and South Dakota, to the effect that the senders were prepared to bring large numbers of volunteers to the government service.

Sixteen Italians Ordered Returned.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Sixteen more Italians were ordered returned to Italy Saturday by the superintendent of immigration. The causes for barring the men from landing were that some had contagious diseases, others chronic loathsome diseases, and others because they had no money or friends.

Baron Fava Too Ill to Travel.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Baron Fava, though somewhat better, is still quite weak and confined to his room. He had intended to sail from New York Saturday, but it is impossible to tell now how long he will be detained in Washington.

AN ANARCHISTS FUNERAL.

Obsequies of the Late Joseph Frick at Pittsburg, Pa.

PITTSBURG, April 6.—In the undertaking rooms of H. Samson on Sixth avenue, this city, surrounded by evidences of wealth, in the presence of nearly 1,000 persons, the obsequies of Anarchist Joseph Frick took this place yesterday afternoon. Johann Most delivered the eulogy and took advantage of the occasion to make an appeal for anarchy.

The dead man was attired in a blood red scarf encircling the throat, and a blood red rose was pinned to the coat lapel. Around the foot of the bier floated the folds of a carmine Anarchist flag. The rests beneath the casket were draped with bunting of the same sanguine hue. Two bouquets of fresh field flowers lay on the coffin lid and over the coffin there hung two red garlands.

Probably a Murder.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., April 6.—The body of William Bracher found in the creek near Emgen in this county, Saturday morning. The case is shrouded in mystery, and murder is suspected.

THE COKE RIOTERS.

Funeral of the Victims—State of Affairs in the Strike.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., April 6.—The special funeral train bearing the bodies of seven of the victims of the Morewood shooting left Mount Pleasant at 2:52 and arrived here at 3:20. The train was composed of six coaches packed full, and standing-room was at a premium on the platforms. The bodies were taken off the train at the depot and placed in large road wagons. The funeral cortege did not move until the regular train arrived at 3:57.

The large public square was not spacious enough to hold the great crowds of people, and the delegations that arrived on regular trains had to form on Pittsburg street and Broadway.

The foreign element did not take kindly to the road wagons being used as hearses to bear the remains of their countrymen to their last resting place, and the coffins were taken out and six of them were carried to the cemetery, a distance of one mile. The seventh was placed in a hearse.

The procession moved at 4 o'clock, headed by the Standard Miners' Cornet and Scottdale bands, both of which played the dead march the entire distance. There were 8,000 people at the depot, but scarcely half this number went to the cemetery, and a large majority of those that did follow the remains were Poles, Slavs and Hungarians.

American flags were conspicuous, and a number of the delegations carried banners. The workmen nearly all wore badges and crepe, and when the coffins were lowered into the large trench, which was twelve feet long and seven feet wide, a number of the workmen threw their badges and crepe on the coffins.

Father Lambing and Father Schneigle conducted the funeral services, according to the rites of the Catholic church, which were simple but impressive. After the services Rev. Schneigle delivered an address in the Polish language, in which he counseled his countrymen to return peaceably to their homes, to commit no breach of law, and to abstain from intoxicants and shun the saloons. Rev. Lambing made a brief address in English to the same effect.

Though the town was overcrowded with all classes and conditions of people, there was not the least disturbance, and everything passed off in a manner creditable to the workmen.

After the funeral a great mass meeting was held at Everson, across in Fayette county. The speeches were conservative in tone, but the men were encouraged to remain steadfast. The responsibility of the Morewood shooting, Vice President Penna said, was on the shoulders of the guards and coke companies.

The funeral procession formed about fifty yards from where the five companies of the Eighteenth regiment were quartered and marched past the Fricke Coke company's office. The foreigners flocked around the militia, talked to them in broken English, and were evidently much interested. The appearance of the soldiers no doubt had a quieting effect on them. The saloons were all closed at noon, and intoxicating liquor could not be had in town.

It is said that the labor organizations will at the termination of the strike urge the purchase and erection of monuments in memory of the dead men.

More Shooting.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., April 6.—Several shots were last night fired on the hill back of the works at Morewood, causing a great deal of excitement, but at 10 o'clock everything was quiet.

Superintendent Ramsey's house is surrounded by sentinels, and eleven soldiers are sleeping in the kitchen. There is some ill-feeling against him because men who are not out on strike have been ordered to go to work. The strikers threaten violence to anyone who goes to work.

A check for $10,000 from the headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America was received by the local officials in Scottdale last night.

Troops to Be Recalled.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 6.—The troops in the coke regions will probably be recalled by the middle of this week unless the situation should become more serious than it now appears.

FIRE LOSSES.

Lowell, Massachusetts, Visited by a Big Fire—Other Blazes.

LOWELL, Mass., April 6.—The Edson block, owned by the Wiman heirs, of Baltimore, was burned yesterday afternoon. C. J. Maynard & Company lose $20,000; H. C. Church & Son, $6,000. Other losses swell the aggregate to about $80,000. The fire spread to the Masonic temple adjoining and this, with its contents, was badly damaged.

C. A. Mitchell & Company, who were located on the first floor, lost their entire stock of shoes, valued at $20,000. The public library, with 11,000 volumes, located on the second floor, was badly damaged. There is an insurance on the library of $20,000. In the Masons' quarters, fitted up at an expense of $20,000, the damage was principally by water. About 200 Knights Templar regalias, worth about $2,000, were greatly damaged by water and smoke. The Goodyear Rubber company suffered a small loss by water. The building was damaged about $7,000.

In Memphis, Tennessee.

MEMPHIS, April 6.—Fire early this morning destroyed the seven-story abstract building and the Franklin hotel, and damaged the Odd Fellows building, corner of Main and Adams street. Loss on abstract building $75,000; on hotel $ 0,000. Ex-District Attorney J. R. Fellows, of New York, loses $15,000 on his building. Insurance not known.

Tack Factory Destroyed.

TAUNTON, Mass., April 6.—The diamond tack factory at Raynham was burned on Friday night. Loss, $35,000; partially insured.

DOES IT MEAN WAR?

A Demand from Russia, Backed by French Approval,

ADDRESSED TO OTHER POWERS.

A Protest Against the Continuance of the Present Form of Government in Bulgaria—The European Powers Will Not Accede to the Demand—Various Other Foreign News.

LONDON, April 6.—A note from the Russian government will be presented to the European powers to-day protesting against the continuance of the present form of government in Bulgaria, and demanding that Roumelia, the affairs of which are now administered from Sofia, and which is an integral part of Bulgaria, shall be separated from that principality.

France will give her support to this note, but the other powers will insist on maintaining the status quo. Stambuloff proposed to meet the Russian note by proclaiming Bulgaria independent, but the friendly powers refused to assent to this step until Russia and France shall have shown their intentions more clearly than at present.

Trying to Stop German Emigration.

BERLIN, April 6.—It is stated that the government has sent instructions to its minister to ascertain what, if any, guarantee of protection the American government gives to German subjects resident in the United States. The present controversy between America and Italy is viewed with no little satisfaction at Berlin, and the worst possible form given to it by the German press generally. The motive is not as much unfriendliness to the United States as to put a stop to German emigration, which is already making itself severely felt in the lack of laborers for agriculture.

The Conservative party and the large land holders generally are in favor of prohibiting emigration, for all except Jews as is done in Russia. The government is not prepared to go this far; but none the less appreciates the effect of the drain upon the industries of Germany. The impression is, therefore sought to be created that America is a lawless country, and the scenes like the New Orleans massacre are of ordinary occurence.

Michael Davitt Not Popular With Labor.

LONDON, April 6.—The refusal of the government to accept Michael Davitt as the Irish representative on the labor commission is generally approved by both parties in England. The London trades unionists do not conceal their satisfaction, and their leader, Thomas Mann, who proposes himself to issue a labor paper, is said to be gratified at the repudiation of Davitt whom Mann and his fellow unionists claim to regard as a foreigner, with no right to interfere in the labor interests of Great Britain.

Fatal Explosion of Gas.

LONDON, April 6.—An accident, resulting in the death of a number of persons and the injury of many more, is reported from Frankenstein, Silesia. A crowd of customers were present in a grocery when, from some unexplained cause, an explosion of gas occurred, shattering the building and setting fire to the contents of the shops. Five persons were killed by the shock or by bursts, while numerous others were seriously injured some of whom, it is feared, will not recover.

Memorial Services.

LONDON, April 6.—The memorial service for the late Lord Granville, held in the chapel Royal, London, yesterday, was of a very impressive character. The chapel was crowded with the most distinguished persons, all personal friends of the deceased Statesman Mr. Gladstone, Robert Gladstone and their families were among the number. Mr. Lincoln, the American minister, was present, and seemed much affected.

Gale Sweeping Over Scotland.

LONDON, April 6.—A terrific gale is sweeping over Scotland, and numerous wrecks are reported along the northern coast. At Peterhead, Aberdeen, the whole population is on the shore, watching the struggles of the fishing vessels to make safely for land.

Quarrymen Strike.

LONDON, April 6. — The extensive quarry interests of Leicestershire are seriously affected by a strike which has occurred among the quarrymen. About 5,000 men are out, their demand for an increase of 10 percentum in wages having been refused.

Dynamite Explosion.

LONDON, April 6.—A serious accident is reported in connection with the relief railway system. Some dynamite exploded prematurely at Killybegs, Ireland, and one person was killed, and several seriously wounded

One Hundred Churches Closed.

ROME, April 6.—The pope has ordered a hundred churches in Rome to be closed, they being unable to support themselves on account of the sequestration of their goods by the government.

LEVEE BREAKS.

Several Counties in Mississippi Flooded and Great Damage Done.

GREENVILLE, Miss., April 6.—The large levee two miles below Longwood, on the Mississippi side, about thirty miles south of Greenville, broke about 12 o'clock Saturday night. The crevasse was 200 feet wide at noon yesterday. Efforts to tie the ends will be made at once.

Most of the lowlands of Issaquena county, a portion of Sharkey and several fine plantations in South Washington county will be flooded. The levee is an old one, and the break was altogether unexpected. The main line of the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas railroad will probably be seriously affected.

BLOODY CRIME.

A Colored Preacher and Pugilist Beats His Wife to Death With a Hatchet.

JERSEY CITY, April 6.—Edward Hallinger, colored, who, it is said, has been a preacher and a pugilist, murdered his wife in a most brutal manner at an early hour yesterday morning. The woman had recently left him on account of cruel treatment. Hallinger, while besotted with liquor, forced an entrance into the house where his wife was stopping and began beating her on the head with a lather's hatchet. Again and again he sank the weapon into the woman's skull.

Even after the woman was dead the infuriated brute kept striking her with the hatchet, and when he finally desisted the woman's skull was crushed to a bleeding mass. Both her arms were almost severed from the body, these having been cut while she raised them in an endeavor to ward off the blows. Hallinger then attempted to kill himself. He had cut himself severely about the head when the police arrived and disarmed him. The refusal of the woman to again live with him was the reason given by the murderer for his terrible crime.

P. T. Barnum Seriously Ill.

BOXING AS A HOOSIER ART.

A Finish Fight at an Ovid School Exhibition.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 6.—The public school at Ovid, Ind., Closed Friday night with an old-fashioned school exhibition, consisting of essays, dialogues and declarations. The program started off with a prayer by the local minister, followed by an address by the trustee.

One of the principal features of the entertainment was a five-round boxing match between Pleas. Read and Ben. Ears, of Anderson. The pugilists took advantage of the school exhibition to make it a fight to a finish. Jack Hanley, a noted fighter of Indianapolis, acted as referee. The two combatants stripped to the waist, and fought five vicious rounds, blood flowing freely. Read was knocked out, and the fun ceased.

Bad Freight Wreck.

CINCINNATI, April 6. — Northbound freight No. 18, on the Cincinnati Southern railroad on approaching Ludlow shortly before noon yesterday ran into a switch engine and fourteen cars which had pulled out on the main track. The engineer of the incoming train saw the danger, whistled down breaks and reversed his engine, but finding that he could not avert the collision jumped in time to save his life. The crash was terrific, and both engines were wrecked. Twelve cars were smashed into kindling wood and Brakeman Cayton, who was on his first trip over the road, was instantly killed. The other train escaped with a few bruises. The loss will be about $25,000.

What It Costs

Must be carefully considered by the great majority of people, in buying even necessities of life. Hood's Sarsaparilla commends itself with special force to the great middle classes, because it combines positive economy with great medicinal power. It is the only medicine of which can truly be said "100 Doses One Dollar," and a bottle taken according to directions will average to last a month.

MONDAY. - - - APRIL 6

It will be proper for the papers to use headlines containing "Snowed Under." It is not very often that the Ohio citizen casts his ballot during the fall of snow, as we experienced today.

TODAY'S issue of the STAR is an unusually early impression made in order to have machinery repaired in time for use tomorrow. This statement is made to explain any ommissions of late news that might be possible.

THE dispatches relating to the labor troubles make frequent refrence to the "labor leaders." Well, they are important factors. These "labor leaders"—mostly agitators—are responsible for all the troubles that are experienced, and are not only a burden upon the organized laborers but the source of three fourths of their woe.

WE received today a series of three interesting Florida letters from Col. Christian. The first of them will appear tomorrow. The Colonel adds a note that the thermometer runs between 85 and 90, the weather clear and bright and life is comfortable. If Florida would only divide a little of her glorious sunshine with us we might be happy.

ing wax, sulphur or resin) the card will attract light substances, such as crumbs of cork, elder pith, etc. Balance a walking stick across the back of a chair, and you may offer a wager that without touching it, blowing upon it or touching the chair you can make it fall. All that you have to do is to dry the card well before the fire, rub it on your coat sleeve and hold it close to one end of the walking stick, which will follow it as iron follows the magnet, until its equilibrium being destroyed, it falls to the ground.

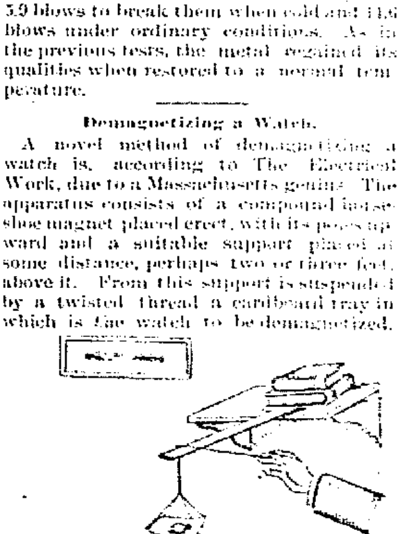
Instead of a walking stick you may balance on the back of the chair a fishing rod or a long pole. The pole will be attracted to the electrified card just the stick was, and its greater length will enable the company to get a better view of the experiment.

Effect of Cold on the Strength of Steel.

The French government has had conducted for them a series of experiments on gun steel at very low temperature, says The Railway Review. The specimens, some of which were hardened and others not hardened, were cooled to 75 or 100 degs. Fahr. below zero by immersing them in a bath of carbonic acid gas and sulphuric ether. The test bars were prepared in sets of threes, one to be used after being cooled to about 100 degs. below zero, while the other two were tested at normal temperature. As a result of these tests it was found that both the hardened and unhardened bars had their elastic limit raised about 11 per cent. when tested cold. The breaking strain of the hardened bars was increased about 6 per cent., and that of the unhardened bars about 3 per cent. by cooling. The elongation of the hardened bars was diminished 11 per cent., and the unhardened bars 12 per cent. These changes were only temporary, however, as with the restoration of the bars to the ordinary temperature their original properties returned. Another series of tests were conducted for which the bars were prepared in sets of three as before. These were tested by means of a drop weight, instead of being subject to tension, as in the previous case. It was found that the cooling of the bars increased their brittleness. As an average each hardened bar required 12.57 blows to fracture it at 100 degs. below zero and 11.4 blows at the normal temperature. The unhardened bars required 5.9 blows to break them when cold and 11.6 blows under ordinary conditions. As in the previous tests, the metal regained its qualities when restored to a normal temperature.

Demagnetizing a Watch.

A novel method of demagnetizing a watch is, according to The Electrical Work, due to a Massachusetts genius. The apparatus consists of a compound horseshoe magnet placed erect, with its poles upward and a suitable support placed at some distance, perhaps two or three feet, above it. From this support is suspended by a twisted thread a cardboard tray in which is the watch to be demagnetized.



ONE WAY TO DEMAGNETIZE A WATCH.

When in position the supporting thread is allowed to untwist, and the watch is gradually removed from the magnetic field.

The authority quoted says that the same results could be obtained by the use of an electro magnet energized from a battery or other source of current as well as by employing permanent horseshoe magnets.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

[illegible] in Decorative Work on Articles that Combine Use and Beauty.

[illegible] style of decoration just now [illegible] takes the form of a number [illegible] or wafers worked in chain [illegible] of some foundation. [illegible] are begun in the middle and [illegible] in ever-enlarging circles, round and round. They are about the size of a [illegible] piece. Sometimes five rows [illegible] round the circle of a tea cloth or [illegible] wafers in each row being a trifle [illegible] than those in the preceding row, till the smallest are only the size of peas. [illegible] they can be arranged in groups of five, three or seven, scattered at [illegible] distances over the background. Upon [illegible] satin foundation the wafers are [illegible] made of strands of gold [illegible] which are placed as closely as possible together, and sewn down with fine [illegible] strong yellow silk.

The most fashionable night dress cases [illegible] are very large, from 18 to 22 inches square. They are all wadded and scented. They are made as a square pocket, open at two sides, one corner turned up and bordered with cord in preference to lace. Ivory satin would be best, with the monogram painted in letters formed of flowers, and accompanied by sprays of flowers.

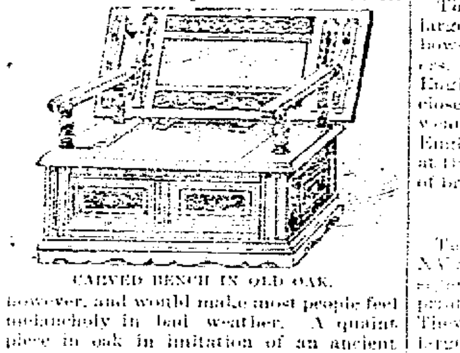
A very quaint and pretty little novelty in pincushions is an ordinary wooden spoon, first enameled white, and, when dry, painted with small flowers and grasses in brown and gold bronze. A small cushion of light blue satin is fixed in the bowl of the spoon with glue, and the spoon is trimmed gracefully with light blue ribbons.

It is not surprising that jewels should have found their way from dress to needlework. Gorgeous though their appearance be, they are not appropriate to every article of home decoration. They are especially unsuitable for cushion covers, their unyielding surface rendering them anything but comfortable when the cushion is required for use. Perhaps they are more satisfactory for the decoration of work or theater bags made of plush or shot surah, upon which much splendor may be lavished.

Very dainty are cozies for slipping over a dish of hot tea cakes or scones. These are usually made round in shape, and a trifle larger than the dish they are to cover. They are thickly wadded, and covered with soft silk drawn up to the top, where it forms a full rosette, which serves as a handle. Round the lower part is stretched a band of embroidered plush or velveteen, which may be as ornamental as it is possible to make it.

Fancies in Furniture.

Old oak furniture is having a renaissance, and medieval designs in modern work are seen sufficiently to show that there is a fancy for them on the part of many. Not only dining rooms but bedrooms are furnished in oak. They look a trifle somber,



CARVED BENCH IN OLD OAK.

however, and would make most people feel melancholy in bad weather. A quaint piece in oak in imitation of an ancient monk's bench is shown in our cut. It can be quickly converted into a table by turning over the back, which is handsomely carved on both sides. House linen or clothes are usually kept in the box beneath the seat.

Folks who have gilded looking glasses can use them, and be in the latest fashion. They will be all the rage presently.

An odd new bedroom suit is in shrimp pink, decorated with quaint Japanese pictures. The washstand is furnished with a couple of silk curtains.

One of the most useful of decorated bits of furniture is the corner cupboard filled with triangular shelves and fitted with glass doors.

The little table is a very popular piece of furniture and the number of charming forms which it takes on can hardly be enumerated. There are solid small tables of carved oak, Japanese tables fitted with shelves after the fashion of a cabinet; Turkish coffee tables inlaid with mother of pearl or silver, and wicker tables in fanciful shapes, bronzed or finished in glossy enamel paint of some delicate tint. Especially popular are the ivory enameled tables which come in many graceful forms and show a hand painted decoration of tiny flowers dotted over the surface, or large bunches and sprays of handsome blossoms that look as if carelessly thrown down upon the table.

Culinary Points Worth Knowing.

Pare a fresh lemon very carefully without breaking the white inner skin; put it inside a wild duck; a lemon kept there for forty-eight hours will remove all the strong taste often so unpleasant in wild fowl. The lemon should be changed every twelve hours. To flavor and make tender a joint of roast beef, and to give variety to the family table, where beef is the usual meat eaten, nothing more is required than a large lemon; cut it in two pieces, squeeze all the juice upon the meat, then, after peeling the lemon, roll it up in the joint (ribs of beef, etc.). When the lemon is used no water is required. The joint should be a fat piece of meat to insure good gravy, the lemon acid removing the oily taste sometimes objected to.

Curry of Chicken.

For curry of chicken cut the chicken in pieces, leaving out the body bones, fry in butter and season with salt and pepper. Remove the chicken when done and fry a small onion cut in pieces in the butter; add a teacupful of nice stock and a tablespoonful of curry powder mixed with a little flour rubbed smooth with a little water before adding to the stock. Put in the pieces of chicken, and when hot add the juice of half a lemon. Serve [illegible] [illegible] boiled rice, with or without half a [illegible] grated over it.

A Pretty Novelty in Stationery.

[illegible] novelty is the flower paper. It [illegible] lilac or green, and is [illegible] with the buds or petals [illegible] darker hue. DRESS AND FASHION.

LATEST [illegible] FASHIONS ILLUSTRATED AND DESCRIBED.

[illegible] to be Indicated by the Easter Bonnets. The New Three-Cornered Hat Christened "Ravenswood" and Introduced by Ellen Terry.

[illegible] the [illegible] for [illegible] spring and [illegible] bonnets, [illegible] will be [illegible] flat bonnets [illegible] will not [illegible] be worn [illegible] turned up at the back. Metal and paste play an all important [illegible] millinery. Gold ornaments [illegible] prepared in thousands for millinery purposes, as are gold aigrettes and gold [illegible] Milliners are using [illegible] in gold, jet and silver, to intermingle with other trimmings. The three cornered "Ravenswood" hat, introduced by Ellen Terry in the play of "Ravenswood," is likely to have quite a run. It is suited to any woman to whom a boat shaped hat is becoming.

EASTER HATS AND BONNETS.

In our cut we illustrate three bonnets imported for the Easter season. One is in orange velvet, trimmed with oranges and leaves. Another is a Ravenswood hat in straw, edged with velvet and ornamented with feathers. The remaining one is in black point de gaze, with tufts of violets for trimmings, and long trails of violets forming strings.

On some of the new bonnets the flowers stand erect over the face, and bows are, in nearly every case, arranged with upstanding loops. A material much employed in millinery is chiffon; tulle is also used.

The hats from Paris are extraordinarily large and often fantastic, with enormous bows and equally large bouquets of flowers. Toques of slender shape and round English turbans are largely imported. The close small hats for early spring and for wearing with tailor gowns are modified English walking hats, with the brim rolled at the back. Pointed and crinkled fronts of brims are features of small French hats.

Spring and Summer Tables.

The present preference for Louis XIV, XV and XVI periods is evidenced in the [illegible] of the new cotton fabrics. These are printed in floral designs of great beauty. They nearly all cover the entire ground, or large bouquets are scattered at sparse intervals on a color that accords with them; but on navy blue and darker tones the patterns printed in white cashmerian designs on peach or gray, blue or red are most effective. Stripes formed of flowers, and flowers thrown on stripes are new. The most [illegible] innovation this season is that [illegible] bunches of flowers are thrown upon [illegible] as large as half a crown.

Lace Bodices Once More.

Evening bodices are once more, as a rule, [illegible] laced at the back, and many morning ones also, where the bodice and skirt are cut in one, or are sewn together, as many are. The plan is not convenient for packing, but it has merits. The long sleeves to lace bodices have only been accepted as yet [illegible] materials by English women, [illegible] are cut mostly on the [illegible] Black lace and spotted and [illegible] net thus used have most frequently a tight lining cut in white net, which is perfectly invisible when worn, but proves most becoming to the skin of the arm.

A New Style of Bouquet.

The accompanying cut shows an exceedingly pretty and original arrangement of flowers known as the "shower" bouquet. The top part of this bouquet is entirely of red and brown, and long grasses, ferns, etc., intermingling with a mass of silk ribbons of a delicate pink color. The whole represents a most artistic combination of lovely colors and delicate tints, and when carried in front of the dress has the effect of a cascade of flowers. It need not be added that when the delicate pink of the ribbons used in the bouquet from which this cut was taken does not harmonize properly with the shades of the costume with which it is used some other shade of ribbon should be chosen. The proper variation will commend itself to [illegible] of taste.

Items for Travelers.

Without any prejudice against any other disinfectant for home use, I certainly prefer permanganate of potash as a convenient article to carry on a journey, says a traveler. Being dry, there is no chance of spilling in transit, and as water to mix with it can be had anywhere for the asking, it takes less space than any other disinfectant that I know of. It is not poison, and having no smell its presence is not easily detected should it seem advisable to use it in any part of the premises outside one's own bedroom. Landlords are often irate if any odorous disinfectant is used, seeming to think that a slight is put on their domestic arrangements, and that the other visitors, if they notice a disinfecting smell, will imagine that there was something wrong to make it necessary. Camphor is another disinfectant that is easy to carry, and a few lumps packed in one's box or laid in a bed have many times prevented the ingress of unpleasant visitors, all too common in warm climates.

It is sometimes said that travelers who go south ill return better, but that those who go well are apt to get worse. The reason is, of course, that invalids take care of themselves, but persons in good health take no care, and think in that dry, sunny climate they may run any risk with impunity.

Good Things That Lemons Will Do.

Many people know well the value of lemon juice in the cough season. Many, again, know nothing of the power wrapped up in the little yellow fruit, for the good lemon juice has done is wonderful—as wonderful as it is simple and harmless. It is useful in bilious attacks and asthma, and also for chilblains. In the latter case soak the hands or feet in very hot salt and water, and rub them with the inside of a baked lemon for two or three nights running. The heat and smarting will at once be allayed, and a cure speedily effected.

The Pineapple as a Digestive Agent.

It is stated that there is an element in the common pineapple similar to pepsin, and of such remarkable strength that the juice of a single pineapple will digest ten pounds of beef. It is further stated that the juice of the fruit is a very active solvent of the membrane formed in diphtheria.

One Thing and Another.

Many women go about with the body bent forward and the chest contracted—a practice very injurious to the heart and lungs.

Artificial [illegible] are said to be on the increase. [illegible] since where they are [illegible] soon has no other [illegible]

One of the best things to cleanse the scalp thoroughly is to dissolve one-half teaspoonful of borax in a quart of water and apply it, rubbing it in well. Rinse thoroughly in clear water.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

The Voice of Polite Society and of Pleasant Daily Life.

"We all know how agreeable it is in a strange place to encounter a person with a soft voice and a gracious manner of handling it. Whether well or ill advised, we are drawn to this person, and feel like placing confidence there; for we often imagine that we can tell something of the speaker's moral condition from the voice—one rough to brutality, one soft to hypocritical silkiness, here with a snarly petulant cry in it, here with a clear natural ring that bids and compels trust. Almost always, too, does this voice betray something of the social status and savoir faire; for one of the indisputable signs of good breeding is the management of the voice in speaking—a harsh guttural croak, noisy explosions, nasal inflections, rough and strident sounds, and indistinct enunciation most frequently denoting, if not positive vulgarity in birth and surroundings, at any rate great inattention to the finer points of personal [illegible] to manners."

And when once more we claim her as the summer's priceless pearl,
We'll hail the smiling features of the jolly summer girl.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. INFIDELITY SCORCHED.

DR. TALMAGE'S ELOQUENT REVIEW OF AGNOSTICISM.

The Most Remarkable of a Very Remarkable Series of Sermons on "The Plagues of the Cities"—Does the Bible [illegible] Polygamy?

NEW YORK, April 5.—Continuing his series of sermons on "The Ten Plagues of the Cities," Rev. Dr. Talmage today took as his subject "The Plague of Infidelity." The discourse was delivered to large and appreciative audiences at the Brooklyn Academy of Music in the forenoon and the New York Academy of Music in the evening. The text was Romans iii, 4, "Let God be true, but every man a liar."

That is, if God says one thing and the whole human race says the opposite, I would accept the divine veracity. But there are many in our time who have dared arraign the Almighty for falsehood. Infidelity is not only a plague but it is the mother of plagues.

It seems from what we hear on all sides that the Christian religion is a huge blunder, that the Mosaic account of creation is an absurdity large enough to throw all nations into rollicking guffaw, that Adam and Eve never existed, that the ancient flood and Noah's Ark were impossibilities; that there never was a miracle; that the Bible is the friend of cruelty, of murder, of polygamy, of all forms of base crime; that the Christian religion is woman's tyrant and man's stultification; that the Bible from lid to lid is a fable, a cruelty, a humbug, a sham, a lie, that the martyrs who died for its truth were miserable dupes; that the church of Jesus Christ is properly gazetted as a fool; that when Thomas Carlyle, the skeptic, said "The Bible is a noble book," he was dropping into imbecility; that when Theodore Parker declared in Music Hall, Boston, "Never a boy or girl in all Christendom but was profited by that great book," he was becoming very weak minded; that it is something to bring a blush to the cheek of every patriot that John Adams, the father of American independence, declared "The Bible is the best book in all the world;" and that lion hearted Andrew Jackson turned into a sniveling coward when he said, "That book, sir, is the rock on which our republic rests;" and that Daniel Webster abdicated the throne of his intellectual power and resigned his logic, and from being the great expounder of the constitution and the great lawyer of his age, turned into an idiot when he said, "My heart assures and reassures me that the gospel of Jesus Christ must be a divine reality. From the time that at my mother's feet or on my father's knee I first learned to lisp verses from the sacred writings they have been my daily study and vigilant contemplation, and if there is anything in my style or thought to be commended the credit is due to my kind parents in instilling into my mind an early love of the Scriptures;" and that William H. Seward, the diplomatist of the century, only showed his puerility when he declared "The whole hope of human progress is suspended on the ever growing influence of the Bible;" and that it is best for us to take that book from the throne in the affections of uncounted multitudes, and put it under our feet to be trampled upon by hatred and hissing contempt, and that your old father was hoodwinked and cajoled and cheated and befooled when he leaned on this as a staff after his hair grew gray, and his hands were tremulous, and his steps shortened as he came up to the verge of the grave, and that your mother sat with a pack of lies on her lap while reading of the better country, and of the ending of all her aches and pains, and reunion not only with those of you who stood around her, but with the children she had buried with infinite heartache, so that she could read no more until she took off her spectacles and wiped from them the heavy mist of many tears.

THE GLORIOUS CONSOLATION

Alas! that for forty and fifty years they should have walked under this delusion, and had it under their pillow when they lay a-dying in the back room, and asked that some words from the vile page might be cut upon the tombstone under the shadow of the old country meeting house, where they sleep today waiting for a resurrection that will never come. This book, having deceived them, and having deceived the mighty intellects of the past, must not be allowed to deceive our larger, mightier, vaster, more stupendous intellects.

And out with the book from the court room, where it is used in the solemnization of testimony. Out with it from under the foundation of church and asylum. Out with it from the domestic circle. Gather together all the Bibles—children's Bibles, the family Bibles, those newly bound and those with lids nearly worn out and pages almost obliterated by the fingers long ago turned to dust—bring them all together, and let us make a bonfire of them, and by it warm our cold criticism, and after that turn under with the ploughshare of public indignation the [illegible] ashes of that loathsome, [illegible], obscene, cruel and death-[illegible] which is so antagonistic to [illegible] and woman's honor, and [illegible] happiness.

[illegible] is the substance of what [illegible] and declares, and the [illegible] the Bible is accompanied by great ferocity, and there is hardly any s[illegible] kind[illegible] [illegible] your [illegible] It is [illegible] or [illegible] ab[illegible]

He [illegible] to stop [illegible] He [illegible] And so [illegible] the [illegible] Bible [illegible] and [illegible] train of Christ [illegible] gospel [illegible] and eternity [illegible] a thousand [illegible] more [illegible] ever [illegible] more [illegible] expr[illegible] shriek [illegible] ment.

It [illegible] kn[illegible] Is the [illegible] we sh[illegible] ure world [illegible] Don't [illegible] know [illegible] know [illegible] know [illegible] fill [illegible] of [illegible] us a [illegible] high [illegible] ship [illegible] migh[illegible] to [illegible] uplift[illegible] who [illegible]

Hav[illegible] but [illegible]

Do you know that [illegible]

What a mis[illegible] [illegible] the story [illegible] written. It is the [illegible] village graveyard [illegible] cemetery, and of W[illegible] instead of Christian [illegible] dying, a freezing [illegible] prayer, a grimace. [illegible] triumphant defiance of [illegible] out you know not wh[illegible] know not when, to do [illegible] what. That is infidel[illegible]

FOLLY OF THE POLY[illegible]

Furthermore, I [illegible] because of the false [illegible] is all the time [illegible] against the Bible. Perhaps th[illegible] that has made the most [illegible] some Christians ha[illegible] cent enough to [illegible] Bible favors polygamy. Does the God of the Bible uphold polygamy [illegible] How many wives did God make for Adam? He made one wife. [illegible] not your common sense [illegible] God started the [illegible] story. If as he was [illegible] If God had favored [illegible] have created for Adam [illegible] two wives or twenty wives, just as easily as he made one.

At the very first [illegible] shows himself [illegible] and antagonistic [illegible] is ii, 24: "Therefore [illegible] his father and mother [illegible] unto his wife." Not [illegible] wives. How many wives did God provide for Noah in the ark? Two and two of the birds, two and two [illegible] and two the beasts [illegible] and two of the human race. [illegible] had favored [illegible] would have [illegible] wives. When God first [illegible] he gave Adam one wife. [illegible] second launching [illegible] shares for Noah one wife, for Ham one wife, for Shem one [illegible] Does the Bible [illegible] favored polygamy? In Leviticus [illegible] 18, God [illegible] more than one wife.

God permitted polygamy [illegible] Yes, [illegible] as he permits [illegible] and [illegible] He permits these things as you well know, but he does not sanction them. Who would dare to say he sanctions them? Because the presidents of the United States have permitted polygamy in Utah you are not to [illegible] that they patronized it, that they approved it, when, on the contrary, they denounced it. All of [illegible] of Israel knew that the God of the Bible was against polygamy, for in the four hundred and thirty years of their stay in Egypt there is only one case of polygamy recorded.

All the mighty men of the Bible stood aloof from polygamy, except those who, failing into it, [illegible] ceased within [illegible] Aaron, Aaron, Noah, J[illegible] [illegible] David and [illegible] polygamy? Yes, and [illegible] well punished for it. [illegible] these two men, and you [illegible] the conclusion that all [illegible] of God's nature were [illegible] havior. David suffer[illegible] in the caverns of Adul[illegible] in the wilderness of [illegible] bereavements of Zi[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] polygamy is forbidden, and in all the lands where there is no Bible it is favored. Polygamy all over China, all over India, all over Arabia, all over Persia, all over heathendom, save as the missionaries have done their work, while polygamy does not exist in England and the United States, except in defiance of law. The Bible abroad, God honored monogamy. The Bible not abroad, God abhorred polygamy.

BEAUTIFUL BIBLE PICTURES OF WOMAN.

Another false charge which infidelity has made against the Bible is that it is antagonistic to woman, that it enjoins her degradation and belittles her mission. Under this impression many women have been overcome by the plague of infidelity. Is the Bible the enemy of woman? Come into the picture gallery, the Louvre, the Luxembourg of the Bible and see which pictures are the more honored. Here is Eve, a perfect woman, as perfect a woman as could be made by a perfect God. Here is Deborah, with her womanly arm hurling a host into the battle. Here is Miriam, leading the Israelitish orchestra on the banks of the Red Sea. Here is motherly Hannah, with her own loving hand replenishing the wardrobe of her son Samuel, the prophet. Here is Abigail, kneeling at the foot of the mountain until the four hundred wrathful men, at the sight of her beauty and prowess, halt, like a hurricane stopped at the sight of a water lily, a dewdrop dashing back Niagara. Here is Ruth, putting to shame all the modern slang about mothers-in-law as she turns her back on her home and her country, and faces wild beasts and exile and death, that she may be with Naomi, her husband's mother. Ruth, the queen of the harvest fields; Ruth, the grandmother of David; Ruth, the ancestress of Jesus Christ. The story of her virtues and her life sacrifice the most beautiful pastoral ever written. Here is Vashti defying the bacchanal of a thousand drunken lords, and Esther willing to throw her life away that she may deliver her people. And here is Dorcas, the sunlight of eternal fame gilding her philanthropic needle, and the woman, with perfume in a box made from the hills of Alabastron, pouring the holy chrism on the head of Christ, the aroma lingering all down the corridor of the centuries. Here is Lydia, the merchantess of Tyrian purple, immortalized for her Christian behavior. Here is the widow with two mites more famous than the Peabodys and the Lenoxes of all the ages, while here comes in, slow of gait and with careful attendants and with especial honor and high favor, leaning on the arm of inspiration, one who is the joy and pride of any home so rarely fortunate to have one, an old Christian grandmother, Grandmother Lois. Who has more worshipers today than any being that ever lived on earth except Jesus Christ? Mary. For what purpose did Christ perform his first miracle upon earth? To relieve the embarrassment of a womanly housekeeper at the falling short of a beverage. Why did Christ break up the silence of the tomb, and tear off the shroud, and rip up the rocks? It was to stop the bereavement of the two Bethany sisters. For whose comfort was Christ most anxious in the hour of dying excruciation? For a woman, an old woman, a wrinkle faced woman, a woman who in other days had held him in her arms, his first friend, his last friend, as it is very apt to be—his mother. All the pathos of the ages compressed into one utterance, "Behold thy mother!" Does the Bible antagonize woman?

CHRISTIAN AND PAGAN WOMAN CONTRASTED.

If the Bible is so antagonistic to woman how do you account for the difference in woman's condition in China and central Africa, and her condition in England and America? There is no difference except that which the Bible makes. In lands where there is no Bible she is hitched like a beast of burden to the plows, she carries the hod, she submits to indescribable indignities. She must be kept in a private apartment, and if she come forth she must be carefully hooded and religiously veiled, as though it were a shame to be a woman. Do you not know that the very first thing the Bible does when it comes into a new country is to strike off the shackles of woman's serfdom? O woman, where are your chains today? Hold up both your arms and let us see your handcuffs. Oh, we see the handcuffs! They are bracelets of gold bestowed by husbandly or fatherly or brotherly or sisterly or loverly affection. Unloosen the warm robe from your neck, O woman, and let us see the yoke of your bondage. Oh, I find the yoke a carcanet of silver, or a string of carnelians, or a cluster of pearls that must gall you very much! How bad you must all have it!

Since you put the Bible on your stand in the sitting room has the Bible been to you, O woman, a curse or a blessing? Why is it that a woman [illegible] troubled will go to her [illegible] the Bible? Why do you [illegible] for comfort to some of the great [illegible] book, Spinoza's "Ethics," or [illegible] Hume's Natural History of Religion, or Paine's Age of Reason, or [illegible] Dialogues, or any one of the two hundred and sixty volumes of Voltaire? No, the silly deluded woman persists in [illegible] about the Bible verses, "Let not your heart be troubled," "All things work together for good," "Weeping may endure for a night, [illegible]," "[illegible] tion," "Peace, be still."

Furthermore, rather than invite [illegible] against the plague of infidelity because it has wrought no positive good for the world, and is always a hindrance. I ask you to mention the names of the merciful and the educational institutions which infidelity founded and is supporting, and has supported all the way through—institutions pronounced against God and the Christian religion, and yet pronounced in behalf of suffering humanity. What are the names of them? Certainly not the United States Christian commission or the sanitary commission, for Christian George H. Stuart was the president of the one and Christian Henry W. Bellows was the president of the other. Where are the asylums and merciful institutions founded by infidelity and supported by infidelity, pronounced against God and the Bible, and yet doing work for the alleviation of suffering? Infidelity is so very hard in its braggadocio it must have some to mention. Certainly, if you come to speak of educational institutions, it is not Yale, it is not Harvard, it is not Princeton, it is not Middletown, it is not Cambridge or Oxford, it is not any institution from which a diploma would not be a disgrace. Do you point to the German universities as exceptions? I have to tell you that all the German universities today are under positive Christian influences, except the university of Heidelberg, where the ruffianly students cut and gash and mangle and murder each other as a matter of pride instead of infamy. Do you mention Girard college, Philadelphia, as an exception—that college established by the will of Mr. Girard, which forbade religious instruction and the entrance of clergymen within its gates? My reply is that I lived for seven years near that college and knew many of its professors to be Christian instructors, and no better Christian influences are to be found in any college than in Girard college.

INFIDELITY A KNOW-NOTHING AND A DO-NOTHING.

There stands Christianity. There stands infidelity. Compare what they have done. Compare their resources. There is Christianity, a prayer on her lip, a benediction on her brow; both hands full of help for all who want help, the mother of thousands of colleges; the mother of thousands of asylums for the oppressed, the blind, the sick, the lame, the imbecile; the mother of missions for the bringing back of the outcast, the mother of thousands of reformatory institutions for the saving of the lost, the mother of innumerable Sabbath schools bringing millions of children under a drill to prepare them for respectability and usefulness, to say nothing of the great future. That is Christianity.

Here is infidelity; no prayer on her lips, no benediction on her brow, both hands clenched—what for? To fight Christianity. That is the entire business. The complete mission of infidelity to fight Christianity. Where are her schools, her colleges, her asylums of mercy? Let me throw you down a whole ream of foolscap paper that you may fill all of it with the names of her beneficent institutions, the colleges and the asylums, the institutions of mercy and of learning founded by infidelity and supported alone by infidelity, pronounced against God and the Christian religion and yet in favor of making the world better. "Oh," you say, "a ream of paper is too much for the names of those institutions." Well, then, I throw you a quire of paper. Fill it up now. I will wait until you get all the names down. "Oh," you say, "that is too much." Well, then, I will just hand you a sheet of letter paper. Just fill up the four sides while we are talking of this matter with the names of the merciful institutions and the educational institutions founded by infidelity and supported all along by infidelity, pronounced against God and the Christian religion, yet in favor of humanity.

"Oh," you say, "that is too much room, we don't want a whole sheet of paper to write down the names." Perhaps I had better tear out one leaf from my memorandum book, and ask you fill up both sides of it with the names of such institutions. "Oh," you say, "that would be too much room; I wouldn't want so much room as that." Well, then, suppose you count them on your ten fingers. "Oh," you say, "not quite so much as that." Well, then, count them on the fingers of one hand. "Oh," you say, "we don't want quite so much room as that." Suppose, then, you halt and count on one finger the name of any institution founded by infidelity, supported entirely by infidelity, pronounced against God and the Christian religion, yet toiling to make the world better. Not one! Not one!

Is infidelity so poor, so starveling, so mean, so useless? Get out, you miserable pauper of the universe! Crawl into some rathole of everlasting nothingness. Infidelity standing today amid the suffering, groaning, dying nations and yet doing absolutely nothing, save trying to impede those who are toiling until they fall exhausted into their graves in trying to make the world better. Gather up all the work, all the merciful work, that infidelity has ever done, add it all together and it does not [illegible] small [illegible] sister of Charity [illegible] up the stairs [illegible] of the [illegible] appl[illegible] to a broken stand, and then kneel on the bare floor, praying the mercy of Christ upon the dying soul.

THE PLAGUE WILL BE STAID.

Infidelity scrapes no lint for the wounds, bakes no bread for the hungry, shakes up no pillow for the sick, pours no comfort for the bereft, gilds no grave for the dead. While Christ, our Christ, our wounded Christ, our risen Christ, the Christ of this old fashioned Bible—blessed be his glorious name forever!—our Christ stands this hour pointing to the hospital, or to the asylum, saying, "I was sick and ye gave me a couch, I was lame and ye gave me a crutch, I was blind and ye physicianed my eyesight, I was orphaned and ye mothered my soul, I was lost on the mountain and ye brought me home, inasmuch as ye did it to one of the least of these, ye did it to me."

But I thank God that this plague of infidelity will be staid. Many of those who hear me now by the Holy Ghost upon their hearts will cease to be scoffers and will become disciples, and the day will arrive when all nations will accept the Scriptures. The Book is going to keep right on until the fires of the last day are kindled. Some of them will begin on one side and some on the other side of the old Book. They will not find a bundle of loose manuscripts easily consumed like tinder thrown into the fire. When the fires of the last day are kindled some will burn on this side, from Genesis toward Revelation, and others will burn on this side, from Revelation toward Genesis, and in all their way they will not find a single chapter or a single verse out of place. That will be the first time we can afford to do without the Bible.

What will be the use of the Book of Genesis, descriptive of how the world was made, when the world is destroyed? What will be the use of the prophecies when they are all fulfilled? What will be the use of the evangelistic or Pauline description of Jesus Christ when we see him face to face? What will be the use of his photograph when we have met him in glory? What will be the use of the Book of Revelation, standing as you will with your foot on the glassy sea, and your hand on the ringing harp, and your forehead chapleted with eternal coronation, amid the amethystine and twelve gated glories of heaven? The emerald dashing its green against the beryl, and the beryl dashing its blue against the sapphire, and the sapphire throwing its light on the jacinth, and the jacinth dashing its fire against the chrysoprasus, and you and I standing in the glories of ten thousand sunsets.

That Third Party.

The constant presence of a third person at the fireside and table is especially disastrous in the earlier years of wedlock. The presence of one who is not "of ourselves" may often restrain what is worst in us; but alas! it always restrains what is best. There must always be in the most perfect unions and the best ordered lives some little friction which will once in a while find expression. The gentle protest with which, if alone with your husband, you would disarm his fractiousness dies in your throat because of the third person. The loving caress with which you would close his lips and make him ashamed of himself is as impossible to you as if you were paralyzed.

If misunderstood, pride will not let you explain, and you retort indignantly, or at best keep silent with an aching heart, and in time you grow to hate that third person, who may be an angel of light, but who is none the less eating holes in your marriage garment. It may not be possible without neglecting a sacred duty to have your house entirely to yourself, but I charge you as you value your mutual love and happiness, be inflexible in your resolution to keep some waking hours out of every twenty-four when the fireside shall be sacred to you and your husband; when you can tell each other your thoughts, your hopes and fears, with no stranger intermeddling with your joy.—Mrs. P. T. Barnum in Ladies' Home Journal.

A Successful Seance.

Mr. Charles Bertram fairly outrivaled himself in a private seance given before Dr. Walsh, the archbishop of Dublin. Bertram presented a pack of cards to his grace, requesting him to draw one.

"The card you have drawn, your grace, said Bertram, "is the king of hearts."

"No," replied the archbishop, "it is the five of clubs."

"Well," said Bertram, in an astonished tone, "it is the first time I ever failed in that trick. Would you look at the card again?"

His grace looked, and instead of the five of clubs he saw a portrait of himself.

"I wasn't so much wrong after all," remarked Bertram gayly, "for surely your grace is the king of hearts in Ireland."—London Tit-Bits.

How a Reptile Traps Fishes.

There is a species of terrapin at the London Zoological gardens which is in the fortunate position of not having to work for a living. Like the children in the fairy tale, it has simply to open its mouth and food will drop in. In the mouth of this reptile is a little tag of flesh which is in continual vibration and nearly always visible, for the creature remains open mouthed for hours together. It is believed that the sight of this is particularly alluring to the piscine mind. The fish commits the very pardonable though fatal error of mistaking the process for a wriggling worm. In trying to take the bait it is caught in the trap and swallowed.—London Tit-Bits.

VERY SAD SUICIDE

MISS LIZZIE ACKERMAN FIRES A BULLET INTO HER BRAIN

She Lingers in the Throes of Death for Hours—Everything Points to Suicide, but no Cause is Assigned by the Friends of the Girl—Great Sympathy for the Bereaved Family.

The home of H. Ackerman, on south Main street, was the scene of consternation, bloodshed and sorrow this forenoon. The cause was the startling report that Miss Lizzie, the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman, had shot herself, but whether accidental or intentional, was at first nothing more than presumption. A visit to the Ackerman home confirmed the report.

At 9:30 this forenoon Mrs. Ackerman and neighbors were astonished by the report of a pistol shot, and on entering the house two or three ladies found Miss Lizzie lying on the floor of a bedroom, in a pool of blood which was still streaming from a hole in the right side of her head. A small, five-chambered, 22-calibre revolver lay in the girl's right hand. She was unconscious and was never in a condition to speak a word in explanation of her action.

The circumstances of the dreadful affair are nearly as follows, and lead to the conclusion that it was a case of undoubted suicide. Mrs. Ackerman was engaged in washing this morning, and had told the daughter that she might work at some crocheting. The mother was hanging up her clothes in the yard, supposing Lizzie to still be in the sitting room at her work, when she heard the report of the pistol. The girl had left her crocheting with one completed scallop and gone into the bedroom, where she was found as stated above. The revolver with which the deed was committed was one that had been kept in a bureau drawer, in the bedroom. It was an old, rusted instrument, and Mr. Ackerman states that it had remained in the drawer for the past fifteen years. The drawer was locked and he had the key in his pocket, so that the young lady must have secured another to get at the revolver. But two chambers were loaded when the revolver was found in the girl's hand, and the newly discharged chamber was between two loaded ones, indicating that there might have been an attempt to discharge one of the others previously.

The circumstances of the location of the revolver points to suicide, but there yet appears no cause so far as learned for such action on the part of the young lady.

She was adopted into the Ackerman home when but eight months old, and has since been treated as one of his own children, having enjoyed all the comforts of pleasant surroundings. Miss Lizzie was in good health, and spent Sunday and Sunday night in the society of her girl friends, and appeared to them as jolly and happy as usual, never intimating to them or anyone any intention of taking her own life. She was just coming 16 years of age, right in the flush of young womanhood, much liked by her friends and all the neighbors of the family, and the affair seems most strange to those who knew her best.

Drs. Modrack, Sweeney and Rhu were at the bedside of the girl, and they discouraged any hope of her recovery from the first. The ball entered the head about half way between the eye and ear, above the temple, and apparently lodged in the brain.

At time of going to press, 2:30, the girl was still alive.

St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Owing to the very inclement weather of last Monday evening, the annual parish meeting of St. Paul's church was postponed to be held tonight at 7:30.

A full attendance of all interested in the church is earnestly desired, as a vestry is to be elected to serve for the ensuing year and other important business is to be transacted.

The Marion Relief Association will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, April 7, 1891. Mrs. E. Durfee, Pres.
Mrs. E. G. Allen, Sec.

R. W. Tuttle, a C. and E. conductor, died at Chicago Sunday afternoon. Mr. Tuttle was sick but a short time. He was an old Erie man and known at nearly every point along that system of railroads. He has been connected with the C. and E. for several years.

William Snyder, who is braking on the west end of the C. and E., arrived home Sunday. "He," as he is familiarly known here, had the misfortune to break his right arm in three places last week by getting between a moving train and a fence. He will remain here until he recovers.

The friends of T. P. Wallace were agreeably surprised to note his return from Florida this morning. Mr. Wallace is looking much improved by his southern stay and has enjoyed it, of course. He reports the Marion folks as being well and says that Mrs. Fisher and J. B. Fisher will return this week. Mrs. True and son and Mrs. Matt Thompson are also to start north this week, but Mrs. True will stop in North Carolina. The others will remain a couple weeks or more.
